GATHERING INFORMATION HOLDING BR

We want you to understand what information we collect when you register and use the services of the Holding BR websites and services.

Information you provide to us when you register:

Information you provide voluntarily: some parts of our websites may ask you to provide personal information voluntarily. For example, when filling out a feedback form

Information you provide when contacting us through customer service

Information you provide when filling out the form for the company's services.

The personal information we collect may include contact information (such as your name, address, telephone number or email address) and contact preferences. It may also include professional information, such as your job title, department or job role, as well as the nature of your request or communication. We also collect information you choose to provide to us when completing any 'free text' boxes in our forms (for example, for event sign-up, product feedback or survey requests). Please do not post any information that you do not want to reveal to the public at large.

Information that we collect when a user is authenticated:

In accordance with international regulatory standards, including "combating money laundering" (Anti-Money Laundering / AML), "Know your customer" (KYC) and countering the financing of terrorism (CTF), Holding BR may require the users to authenticate the identity of the user. This entails the collection of formal identification.

Information when using websites:

Through the use of the Holding BR website, we also monitor and collect usage information such as date and time of access, device identification, Operating system, browser Type and IP address. This information may be obtained directly from Holding BR or through the services of third parties. This data on the use of the services helps us to ensure that our interface is accessible to users on all platforms and can help during criminal investigations.

We may use cookies. Functional cookies allow us to remember the choices you make when you browse the website, as well as to provide advanced and more personalized content and features such as customizing a specific web page, remembering if we asked you to participate in an advertising campaign and for other services you request, such as watching a video or commenting on a blog. To allow you to connect to the website, our servers receive and record information about your computer, device, and browser, including your IP address, browser Type, and other software or hardware information. All these features help us to improve your visit to the website.

In some cases, when you or any other user who has access to your data and/or devices contact us via a form or by sending us an email or any other electronic means, we may access your (personal) data if you include them in the communication. This also includes third parties such as external data providers or our business partners.

For unregistered users, we do not store data that could identify the user.

WHY HOLDING BR COLLECTS THIS INFORMATION

Provide and maintain our services

We use the information we collect to provide our services and to verify your identity.

We use an IP address and a unique identifier that is stored in your device's cookies to help us verify your identity and provide our service. Due to our legal obligations and system requirements, we cannot provide you services without such data as identification, contact information and transaction related information.

To protect our users

We use the information we collect to protect our platform, user accounts and archives. We use IP addresses and cookie data to protect against automatic abuse such as spam, phishing, and distributed denial of service (DDoS).

We analyze user behavior for early detection of suspicious behavior to prevent potential fraud and loss of funds by attackers.

To comply with legal and regulatory requirements

The privacy and security of the data you store with Holding BR informs us of our approach to compliance with the rules, government requests and user requests. We will not disclose or provide any personal information to third party sources without our legal team's review and/or prior consent of the user.

To measure the performance of the website

We actively measure and analyze data to understand how our services are used. This review is conducted by our operating team to continuously improve the performance of our platform and solve user interface problems. We constantly monitor information about the activities of our systems and communication with users to find and quickly fix problems.

To communicate with users

We use personal information collected, such as an email address, to communicate directly with users when providing customer support or to inform you about logins, transactions and security. Without processing your personal information to confirm each message, we will not be able to respond to your requests or requests. All direct messages remain confidential and are checked for accuracy.

To enforce our terms of use and other agreements

It is very important for us and our customers that we constantly check, investigate and prevent any potentially prohibited or illegal activities that violate our terms of service. For the benefit of our entire user base, we carefully monitor compliance with our third party agreements and actively investigate violations of our published terms of use. Holding BR reserves the right to terminate the provision of services to any user who is involved in activities that violate our terms of use.
